YOUTH PROJECT

MARTIN

Every year, WfM organises a fundraising project that everyone in the church can get involved in. The recipients of 2025/26's funding are:

Christ the Saviour Presbyterian Church Krakow

Christ the Saviour Presbyterian Church in Krakow, Poland is the only Reformed church in a 250km radius. It is part of a newly formed Presbyterian denomination which consists of 4 Reformed churches across Poland. The country is predominantly Roman Catholic, but the dominance of the Catholic church is dwindling.

Due to the small number of Reformed churches and believers living in the country there is very little in the way of Gospel-centred, Reformed literature in the Polish language. The church started a publishing ministry in 2017 called MW Books, whose goal is to fight Poland's theological famine by producing theological materials in Polish.

Currently, there is no Protestant Study Bible available in Polish. Funds raised will go towards translating, editing and proofreading for a Polish translation of the Reformation Study Bible.

Free Church Youth Camps

Free Church Youth Camps run week-long holidays where young people can build lifelong friendships, take part in fun activities and get to know Jesus. The camps have been running since 1960 and, through the camps, thousands of lives have been positively impacted by the Word of God.

Each camp is packed with fun, friends and great food with campers enjoying a mix of activities, games and Bible talks. Camps are led by a dedicated team of servant-hearted volunteer leaders and cooks who are passionate about sharing the Gospel with young people in a relaxed and informal way. There is a strong focus on Biblical teaching and fun!

Funds raised will go towards the cost of running Free Church Youth Camps and will provide opportunities for more children to attend camps as well as widen the camps' options for activities.

Junction 12

Junction 12 works with children and young people (ages 10-18) in the East End of Glasgow, among the 5% most deprived areas in Scotland. All the activities that Junction 12 run are underpinned by Christian values and their staff are all committed Christians.

They aim to establish and develop nurturing relationships with young people and enable them to make positive and healthy choices in every area of their lives. They are currently reaching around 300 young people in communities which rank poorly for employment, health, education and housing.

Much of Junction 12's work focuses on improving the emotional well-being of young people, to help them develop resilience and the social skills to overcome the challenges they face, and to look to the future with hope and optimism. They do this through running education programmes, drop-ins and Scripture Union groups, and organising a variety of outings and residential breaks.

Funds raised from the Flourish project will go towards their residential camps and will allow young people to attend. The camps are an opportunity to develop friendships, and build social and communication skills and to learn more about the Christian faith.

The Mamie Martin Fund

The Mamie Martin Fund supports education for girls in North Malawi. In the 1920s, Mamie Martin served in Malawi with her husband as Free Church of Scotland missionaries. During their time there, Mamie became aware of the need for girls and women to have equal access to education. She used her experience as a teacher to set up classes in Malawian villages. Mamie's daughter Margaret set up the Fund and it has since supported more than 650 girls through their secondary education.

It is difficult in Malawi for girls to access education, and there are financial and cultural pressures to leave school early.

Funds raised will go towards grants to support several girls in their final two years of secondary school as part of their 'Keeping Girls in School' project. This project provides pastoral support, education to empower the girls to make informed life decisions in the future, and basic necessities such as notebooks and travel costs.
